

CLAIMS

What is claimed is:

1. A body temperature detector comprising:
 - a radiation sensor which views a target surface area of the body; and
 - 5 electronics which compute an internal temperature of the body as a function of ambient temperature and sensed surface temperature, the function including a weighted difference of surface temperature and ambient temperature, the weighting being varied with target temperature.